Manager Comment

Global markets were mixed in August amid growing geopolitical tensions between the US and North Korea. Gold appreciated amidst the uncertainty, as a missile was launched from Pyongyang over Japan. Commodity counters were driven by strong economic data from the US and China as GDP and PMI rose in the respective regions.

Global developed market equities contracted by 0.69% while emerging markets rose 2.04% in US dollar. Global bonds returned 1.06% while global property returned 0.2%, both in US dollar. The local equity market (FTSE/JSE All Share Index, ALSI) rose once again in August (+2.65%) after a strong July (+7%). Within subsectors Resources surged 5.1%, SA Industrials gained 1.96%, and Financials were up 2.05% in broad risk-on trading. From a market capitalisation perspective Mid-Caps (+4.5%) outperformed Small Caps (+2.2%) and Large Caps (+2.6%). The total return ALSI at end August was up 13.57% year-to-date. During the month the ALSI reached an all-time high of 56,655 index points on 25 August after a volatile three years on the bourse.

Although Naspers had another good month (+1.1%), resource companies drove market gains. The rally within resource counters in August was primarily driven by Assore (+30.1%), Sibanye Gold (+23.6%), and Exxaro (+20.2%). Local interest rate sensitive stocks also fared well as headline inflation fell for the sixth consecutive month to 4.6% y/y in July from 5.1% y/y in June, and SA's trade surplus for July was reported at R9bn. Within style factors, Value rose 3.47% and Growth increased 2.24%. Bonds had another steady month (+1.03%), outperforming cash (+0.62%) and SA Property (+0.76%) in August. The rand strengthened 1.7% relative to the US dollar in August.

As a result, funds with a larger bias towards local equities such as the Coronation Top 20 Fund and SMM Balanced Fund of Funds tended to outperform funds with mostly offshore exposure like the Nedgroup Global Equity Feeder Fund.

Our current view is neutral on local bonds and local equities bearing in mind the risk of a binary outcome we still face with the possibility of ratings downgrade on local denominated debt. In terms of the global asset classes, however, we still prefer global equities over bonds. We remain cautiously positioned and are constantly monitoring market conditions and conducting manager research to ensure that risk is managed effectively.
