

Risk Evaluation & Audit Process

Risk Evaluation & Audit Process

A critical & objective analysis of your financial plans.

Many business owners and entrepreneurs tend to get caught up in the day to day running of their businesses and lose sight of the fact that they are creating a significant asset, the success of which impacts many people, including business partners, shareholders, employees and their own families.

The same can be said for people who have progressed through the wealth creation process and are now looking to consolidate and secure their wealth. The purpose of this evaluation and audit is to, broadly, determine to what degree your goals and objectives are aligned with existing structures and arrangements.

This process will take you through a structured series of steps designed to do the following:

- Determine your Goals and Objectives
- Create an Estate Balance Sheet, both personal and business.
- Interrogate and evaluate existing structures to determine to what extent they are appropriate in the context of your objectives.
- Identify possible shortcomings and threats posed by your circumstances and the structures currently in place.
- Provide you with an unbiased and objective report on the status quo of your current situation and planning.
- Provide you with advice and a range of solutions designed to address the shortcomings as identified.
- Prioritise and map out an implementation process together with timelines.
- Introduce the Risk Evaluation and Audit Report to your Financial Advisor who can then discuss appropriate solutions to address the needs as identified.

As we have already said, this process could be regarded as being an objective, unbiased and professional Risk Evaluation and Audit report which, in turn, could also be regarded as being a 'Second Opinion' which could well reinforce any existing arrangements and structures which you may have in place. The last thing that you need is to discover how misaligned your planning is when it is too late. Prevention is always better than cure!!

Determine Current Situation

The first step of the exercise is to take an in depth look at the following:

- We will look at your current Will and get an understanding of what it was designed to achieve.
- We will then take a detailed look at your personal and family situation.
- The next step will be to look at your business structures and agreements.
- This will enable us to then look at the construction of an Estate Balance Sheet which will then start putting financial values to the exercise.
- We will also look at any Trusts which you may have set up, whether they already be in place or are planned to be implemented in terms of your Will.

The inappropriate structuring of any of these factors or structures could have a serious impact on the ability of your Executor to give effect to your wishes as identified in your goals and objectives.

Risk Audit Report

Following on from the previous steps, here we will look at identifying appropriate strategies designed to give life to your goals and objectives.

Having determined your goals and objectives which we referred to as being the cornerstones of your plan, we will now look to laying the foundations of a plan designed to achieve the objectives.

This step will also open the opportunity to start looking at how best to employ structures and planning methodology to your advantage.

Here we will also address any problems that may have evolved over time as legislation has changed.

At this point we will also look at your current Will and do an audit of the Trust Deeds relating to any trusts which you may have set up.

The Risk Evaluation and Audit Report that will ultimately be produced will summarise your existing situation, your goals and objectives and the threats posed in your existing plan.

The report will then go on to identify a range of objective planning strategies and solutions which could then be considered to remedy the shortcomings as identified.

The report will also provide you with a comprehensive financial report which will address the financial implications and requirements as dictated by your goals and objectives.

Implementation Roadmap

At this point, if your Financial Advisor has not already been involved, you can then introduce your Advisor to the report and an implementation roadmap can be set up.

Here we will discuss various planning and financial solutions, strategies and products which could be considered to help reduce or eliminate risks and provide liquidity where required.

Your ability to implement all or part of the suggested solutions will also be considered and, if necessary, a priority sequence can be agreed and this will be an integral part of the ongoing evaluation and monitoring process.
